

Good Afternoon and Happy Friday!

Before you all get too far away, I have a quick Special Education Advisory Committee update. Earlier this afternoon, a panel of leaders representing the Special Education Department, Learning Support Services, PFT, and PSEA met to review the 96 applications received from people expressing interest in participating on the new SEAC. The panel took a number of factors into consideration in their selection of this new committee: priorities included ensuring we had Preschool-12 and geographic representation on the new SEAC. Balancing new and out-going SEAC representation as well as gender was also factored. Finally, it was agreed that no more than one person could represent a single school site. Reducing 96 applicants to 24 committee members was no easy task, but I'm pleased to report we got there.

Congratulations to those selected to participate on the new 2019-20 SEAC! And thanks to all who expressed an interest in participating on this committee!
